BY PLANE:

Valencia Airport is located in the nearby town of Manises, about 8 km away from the city. Flights arriving from major Spanish and European cities land there. Furthermore, Valencia connects with destinations all over the world through Madrid and Barcelona. For more information, call the following number: +34 96 159 85 00

From the airport you can take a taxi or a bus:

a) By taxi (recommended): you can catch a taxi from Manises to the Universidad Politécnica de Valencia, where the High Power RF Space Laboratory is located; the journey takes about 25 minutes and costs about 20 euros (the taxi journeys that start at the airport are always more expensive because they include an excess fare of 3,50 euros). Valencia has several taxi companies. If you need a taxi, you can call any of these numbers:

Radio-taxi	+34 963 70 33 33
Tele Taxi	+34 963 57 13 13
Valencia Taxi	+34 963 74 02 02
Auto Taxi	+34 963 70 36 00
Onda Taxi	+34 963 47 52 52

b) By bus, there are cheaper possibilities:

At the airport you can take a Fernanbús bus (Fernanbús phone: +34 961 50 00 82), line 150 which goes to the bus station. Then you can take a bus or the underground to Universidad Politécnica de Valencia.

Undoubtedly, the best option is to get off at the Avenida del Cid and walk to the underground station (Avenida del Cid) entrance. Take line 3 (towards Rafelbunyol), get off at the 6th stop (Benimaclet) and change to line 4 (towards Doctor Lluch). The second stop drops you off at the Universidad Politécnica de Valencia's entrance. For more information on underground stations, timetables and fares, click on the following link:

BY TRAIN:

All trains stop at the Estación del Norte train station, located in the city centre. For more information on destinations and timetables, click on the following link:

www.renfe.es

From the Estación del Norte train station you can take a taxi, a bus or the underground:

a) By taxi: it will cost you about 10 euros to get to the Universidad Politécnica de Valencia.

b) By bus: if you prefer to take a bus, there is a bus stop 100 metres away. It is located on your right hand side (Calle de Alicante). Take bus No. 40 towards the UPV. The ticket costs 1,30 euros, even though you can buy cheaper bus passes at any tobacconist's shop. The journey takes about 20 minutes.

c) Underground: the Xàtiva underground station entrance is in front of the train station main entrance. Take line 3 (towards Rafelbunyol), get off at the 4th stop (Benimaclet) and transfer to line 4 (towards Doctor Lluch). The fourth stop leaves you at the Universidad Politécnica de Valencia entrance.

BY COACH:

The coaches that connect towns in the Valencian Community with other Spanish towns usually terminate at the bus station, located to the North of the city.

Once you are at the bus station, you can take a taxi, a bus or the underground to get to the Vera Campus site:

a) By taxi: it will cost you about 8-10€.

b) By bus: at the nearby Calle de Ricardo Micó there is a bus stop: take bus No. 29 towards Universidad Politécnica de Valencia. In about half an hour you will be at the University. The ticket costs 1, 30 €.

Note: You can easily travel around Valencia using the EMT's urban bus network. On its web page, you can find extensive information on buses, fares, tickets and passes, timetables, special services for handicapped people...

<http://www.emtvalencia.es>

Lines 1, 9, 18, 29, 30, 31, 40, 41 and 71 stop at Universidad Politécnica de Valencia. The nearest lines to the 8G building are line 1 (stops at Ingeniero Fausto Elio street) and line 41 (stops at Tarongers avenue).

c) On the underground: coming on the underground may be a little more complicated: you will have to combine up to three different underground lines. To start with, you must go the Nuevo Centro shopping centre, where the Turia underground station entrance is. Take line 1 (towards plaza de España). Get off at the Ángel Guimerá stop and transfer to line 3 (towards Rafelbunyol). Five stops afterwards, at Benimaclet, you can connect with line 4 (towards Doctor LLuch). The second stop leaves you at the Universidad Politécnica de Valencia entrance.
